

Become a Mentor for the AIDS 2012 Abstract Mentor Programme today!

Become a Mentor and help increase motivation and acceptances of abstracts from developing countries and early-career researchers!

In its fifth year already, the goal of the AIDS 2012 Abstract Mentor Programme is to provide an opportunity for young and/or less experienced researchers from resource-limited settings who lack access to opportunities for rigorous mentoring in research and writing to ask for feedback from experienced abstract submitters.

The programme is entirely dependent on volunteer experienced researchers.

An eligible mentor fulfills the following criteria:

1. Has had two abstracts accepted at an international scientific conference, and
2. Has been the author of at least one manuscript accepted by a peer-reviewed scientific journal.

The programme duration is from the 17th November 2011 to the 1st February 2012 concluding 15 days before the deadline for abstract submissions.

In order to ensure impartiality of the programme, the identity of the abstract submitter and the mentor will be anonymous and the participation in the mentoring programme will not prevent mentors from submitting their own abstracts.

If you are interested in becoming an AIDS 2012 Mentor or if you have any further inquiries on the programme, please contact the AIDS 2012 Abstract Mentor Programme by email at mentor@aids2012.org no later than November 4, 2011.

Sign up to be an AMP Mentor today and spread the word on online mentoring!